TIP vision is what drives our institution to deliver globally competitive education in computing, engineering, and allied disciplines. By this, we can ensure that the TIP do its best to equip us with the relevant knowledge in the field we selected.

The mission is the innovation of our academic design which is leaning more on online learning. Through here, we are still able to learn while maintaining our safety.

I agree that the TIP must have a clear vision that can serve as their guide and to achieve their long-term goals as well a mission that promotes innovation and the use of technology.
